ARBUCKLE SAYS IS GUILTY RAPPE CRIME

Says He Found Miss Rappe
on Floor of Bath Room
Moaning

DENIES STORY OF ICE

Denies Every Charge Made
By State On Stand
Early Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Roscoe Arbuckle today became his own witness in his trial for alleged manslaughter growing out of the death of Virginia Rappe, following his now famous "Labor Day party."

He testified in a clear, deep-toned voice, showing irritation now and then, that:

He found Miss Rappe kneeling on the floor of the bathroom adjoining his room in his St. Francis hotel suite, and that he picked her up and held her so as to relieve her nausea, if possible.

That he then carried her to his bed and called for help.

That when he returned Miss Rappe was tearing off her own clothes and he said to her, "If you want your waist off, I will help you," and then told "the girls" to prevent her from disrobing.

That he left the room and when he returned Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, the complaining witness, was rubbing Miss Rappe's then nude body with ice.

That he told Mrs. Delmont to stop but she persisted and told him to get out of there and that she "knew how to care for Virginia."

That he then attempted to cover up Miss Rappe's body and Mrs. Delmont interfered.

That he took a piece of ice in his hand and asked what it was for.

That he was given a sharp answer by Mrs. Delmont, and replied that if Mrs. Delmont didn't shut up he would throw her out the window.

Arbuckle, leaning far forward in his chair, watching attorneys carefully, shifting, gesticulating, but always composed, though sometimes irritated, denied every charge against him and hung closely to his denial when sharply cross-examined.

He seemed amused at the questions of the district attorney regarding the liquor he had in his room.

"Why, it was there for me to help myself," he said, in a voice which seemed to convey that the district attorney knew little of hospitality.

Again he indicated the prosecution knew little of good manners when he was questioned as to why he had left when Mrs. Maude Taube, with whom he had an engagement, called.

"Those people were not your guests?" he was asked.

"No, but I had to be sociable," he

SIX STORES WILL OCCUPY BUILDING

Dudley House Will Be in
New Location by Wednesday Night

The work of moving the large home from the lot at the northeast corner of Broadway and Central avenue, has been started. C. W. Dudley, owner of the home and the former owner of the lot, stated that he expects to have the dwelling safely located at 206 West Milford street by Wednesday evening.

It is expected that within a short time the new owners of the Broadway-Central corner, Mr. Hanna and the Edwards & Wiley Co., will break ground for their new business block of six store rooms that they are to build. This structure will be of one story and will be entirely of brick.

CHURCH INTERIOR IS NOW FINISHED

The original plans for the decoration of the interior of the First Methodist church of this city, which called for the ornamentation of the big arch and choir alcove with ornamental staff and color work, have been carried out and add greatly to the beauty of the interior. At the time the church was built, on account of the heavy debt, this part of the plans designed by Architect Arthur G. Lindley was eliminated until the church could better afford the luxury.

REALTY BOARD TO HEAR STATE OFFICER

On Tuesday, at noon, in the White Inn, corner Glendale avenue and East Broadway, a meeting of the Glendale Realty Board will be held for the purpose of meeting the secretary of the California State Realty Board, Glenn D. Williamson, who is here in the interests of the state organization. The object of the meeting is to create better cooperation of real estate dealers in the state, and all real estate men of Glendale are invited to attend the meeting.

Speed, Observation, These Are Subjects on Editorial Page

This is an age of speed says Henry James in his comments on the news of the day in his column on the editorial page.

We are all witnesses of many things we do not notice says James W. Foley in his column, "The Listening Post."

Totally different subjects yet closely related, Mr. James says that a short time ago wise men hooted at the suggestion that life could be sustained while cleaving the air at thirty miles an hour and he tells of the auto driver who made an average speed of 109.7 miles an hour on Thanksgiving day and of an aviator who made close to 200 miles an hour.

Mr. Foley draws attention to the battle between the sun and the cloud and points out the difference between seeing and observing. He recommends that you observe this battle which goes on so often in the heavens above you.

It is going on likewise in the souls of many persons, he says.

The thoughts of these writers expressed in beautiful language within the meaning of all are nightly expressed on the editorial page of this paper. We want you to become better acquainted with these men.

You will also find articles by Dr. Frank Crane, Della Stewart and others on the same page each evening. Read them all.

BRYAN FAVORS PLAN ASSOCIATION OF WORLD POWERS

Commoner Sees Right Move in Continuing Parley as an Annual Event

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Copyright 1921 by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Dickens, in his "Mudfog Papers," strikes at a system of reporting which dates back as far as his days. An important national meeting was assembling and bulletins were being issued every few moments, announcing the arrival of distinguished participants. Every little incident was heralded to the world.

I remember that one bulletin was dated 12 o'clock midnight and then at 12:05 another dispatch was sent announcing that nothing had happened since the previous bulletin. Such an announcement might properly be made today. No formal action has been taken during the past 24 hours, although progress has been reported along several lines. The local newspapers announce that great secrecy surrounds certain communications "which are supposed, etc."

Japan is represented as still insisting on an increase from 60 to 70 per cent in her proportion, but it is intimated that she will not carry her insistence to the point of disrupting the conference. What guess could be safer? It is known that her government would like to have the proportion increased, but no one who has followed the proceedings on the conference would, for a moment, suspect Japan of intending to obstruct the success of the conference by insisting upon anything of minor importance, and the percentage is of minor importance. If this convention is inaugurating a policy of continuous decrease, Japan can hardly insist upon a larger proportion, and for the same reason the other nations can hardly permit a demand for such an increase to break up the conference. The other nations can better afford to concede 70 per cent than Japan can to demand it.

Still more important is the continued rumor that the United States will propose a continuing conference, or at least an annual gathering of the representatives of all nations. This is important if true, and it would seem to be true. Circumstantial evidence in support of such a prospect can be found in the attack made upon it by so-called irreconcilables.

But, while those who object to any association of nations are issuing threats, friends of the proposition are expecting that it does not mean a binding covenant, but merely a forum of the development of facts which, when known, will direct public opinion. This is all that is needed. The world needs facts; public sentiment based on the facts will be as coercive as any decision legally binding. This conference has shown what publicity can do. Wars will become practically impossible when every international grievance can be aired. The world's conscience will then have a basis upon which to rest moral conclusions which no civilized nation will disregard. All that is needed is the investigation of every dispute before a resort to war, and time for separation of questions of fact from so-called questions of honor. Independence of action afterwards will not jeopardize the peace of the world.

HADBLOK LECTURE MOST INSTRUCTIVE

A large audience enjoyed the illustrated lecture on the Oberammergau by Dr. E. Harvey Hadblok at the First Methodist church Sunday evening, which was described as "a travelogue of the people and their play." It was embellished with 125 splendid views of the passion play accompanied by running commentary on the actors, with whom Dr. Hadblok had personal acquaintance. Those who had attended other lectures on the passion play declared that this one far surpassed anything they had previously seen or heard.

Dr. Hadblok is giving another lecture tonight entitled "Paris in Pictures," which will be illustrated with a couple of reels of moving pictures showing "our boys" marching down the boulevards of Paris, supplemented by stereopticon views. A special invitation has been sent to the Glendale post of the American Legion to attend, and seats will be reserved for them.

In view of the conference for the limitation of armaments, the lecture will be of special interest, as Dr. Hadblok was in Paris at the time of the peace conference.

HUSE RESIDENCE ENTERED BY THIEF

Burglars operating in Glendale either Saturday night or Sunday entered the home of William O. Huse, 335 Mira Loma street, and ransacked the house. They secured jewelry and clothing valued at $128. The exact time of the robbery which was reported by Mrs. W. A. Russell, a neighbor of the Huse family, is not known, as the family was away since early Saturday morning. Police officers who investigated reported that entrance to the house had been made by forcing open a front window.

Prosperity Doctor Here To Aid Greater Glendale

John H. Gerrie is in town today. He is here to meet Mr. and Mrs. Glendale and all the young Glendales. He is here to look over our city and tell us what he thinks about it. He is here to tell us whether we are building along the right lines for permanence and prosperity and happiness.

Who is John H. Gerrie? He is a doctor of industry and commerce and prosperity. He goes into a town and studies its growth, delves into its past and forecasts its future. He finds out why it is a town and shows how it ought to be trained and guided so that its advancement will be healthful and natural and its mature years full of prosperity.

He makes a survey of the local business situation and points out the possibilities of increased manufacturing, production and distribution for the community under observation. He ascertains the industries that could be operated efficiently and profitably in the community and brings out the opportunities for increasing various lines of local trade.

This profession is entirely original with Mr. Gerrie and has been found beneficial to communities where he has practiced it. In all cases he works in co-operation with the local chamber of commerce and other leading business and civic organizations. He makes the study and points the way; local organizations may act upon the suggestions growing out of his work if they see fit.

This prosperity doctor is in Glendale today. He has been brought here by the publishers of the Glendale Press, who are proud of the steady advancement of this marvelous little city and are eager to do what they can toward promoting the healthful growth of the community and adding to the prosperity of its citizens.

Mr. Gerrie is a writer of unusual force whose frankness is sometimes startling, but whose honesty of purpose and belief in what he says is apparent in every line he prints. He will go among you daily, making his own investigations in his own way and the result of his work will be told in these columns every day.

This investigator has arrived here an absolute stranger. He personally requested that he be given no advance information concerning the town, its environment, its people or its prospects. He desired to observe everything first with his own eyes and to make his inquiries in the proper sequence for building up a correct structure. His findings will be without bias or influence of any kind. Nor will there be any disposition to dictate. The investigation is planned to be only actively and constructively helpful.

This service, so far as the city and citizens of Glendale are concerned, will be absolutely free. It will entail no obligation upon any citizen or body of citizens. It is simply a plan to give Glendale a public service that seems needed at this time, with the immediate object of making this a bigger and stronger and richer city.

The prosperity doctor is here today. The first of his articles will appear in these columns tomorrow. You cannot afford to miss them. You will want them to send to your friends in other cities so they'll know what kind of a town you live in and how big it is going to be.

Mr. Gerrie is here to work in your interests. Start with him in these columns tomorrow and know more about Glendale of today and the Greater Glendale we all hope to make it.

In a self effort to escape the observation of troopers who have been aiding local city and county authorities in breaking up gambling resorts, one band of gamblers opened up for business in a cemetery on the outskirts of the city. The playing was conducted at night, the usual refreshments were on hand, and lookouts were duly posted. But the constabulary was tipped off and a raid was made on the cemetery. Twenty-five or thirty were engaged in playing poker and the lookouts did their duty manfully by forwarding signals for them to vamoose. All made their getaway except two men, who were taken into custody and marched to jail for trial.

MANIAC SUBDUED

TWO FRESNO BOYS ON WAY TO POMONA HELD UP HERE

Fourteen Year Old Youths
Tired of Bumping Way to Uncle's Ranch

To boys, Eugene Parker and Tony Pellegrino, 14 years old, of Fresno, are at the police station waiting for their parents to come and take them home. They ran away Saturday and when taken into custody here they said they were going to Pomona, where the Parker boy has an uncle. The boys said they were going to school in Pomona and work on the ranch owned by the Parker boy's uncle.

Eugene Parker, whose father is a novelty maker, said he expected he would get a licking when he got home. That did not worry him as much as the fact that his mother, who is visiting in San Francisco, might hear of his escapade and worry about it.

The boys left Fresno Saturday morning without money and with only a small lunch, with the intention of making their way to Pomona. According to young Parker, after they had been on the road for several hours the glow of adventure departed and they wanted to turn around and go back to their homes, but they were afraid to. The small lunch was stretched out to cover dinner on Saturday and supper that night.

When night came, the boys decided to be regular adventurers and sleep outside. They lay down and, to again quote the Parker boy, they did not sleep much as it was too cold. The boys spent most of the night tramping around trying to keep warm.

Sunday the boys arrived in Glendale and sought shelter from the rain in the Pacific Electric depot. Officer Jones saw the boys and asked them where they were going and they told him. He took them to the police station and their parents were notified. The parents wired to hold the boys until today, when they would come after them.

SANDERS WILL WORK REORGANIZATION BOY SCOUT BODY

Plan to Make Scout Council
First Class With Paid
Executive

E. S. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Glendale chamber of commerce, has taken up the work of reorganizing the Boy Scout body from a second-class to a first-class council with a paid executive, which was recently decided upon at a meeting of the council.

Mr. Sanders declares that under present plans the field will be enlarged to take in Burbank and Eagle Rock and a campaign will be carried on there simultaneously, to raise the $4500 necessary to maintain the executive. As a preliminary to the drive, a publicity campaign will be put on in December, when the clergymen of the city will be asked to preach on the work of the organization for boys, and the newspapers will be asked for space in which to set forth the aims and activities of the organization.

The council will meet weekly and formulate plans for development work.

WOOLSEY IN AGAIN SAME OLD CHARGE

Alfred Woolsey is in jail again and on the same old charge of intoxication. He was arrested Sunday near Glendale avenue and Harvard street by Patrolman Delgado and locked up. He will appear in Police Judge F. H. Lowe's court this afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is the second time that Woolsey's penchant for "looking on the wine while it is red" has landed him in the police court. He was arrested a few weeks ago and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. This term in jail ended last week. Woolsey has been out of jail only a few days and running true to form it is said that, in the argot of the street, he had "an edge on" when arrested.

CEMETERY HOME OF GANG OF GAMBLERS

The playing was conducted at night, the usual refreshments were on hand, and lookouts were duly posted. But the constabulary was tipped off and a raid was made on the cemetery. GLENDALE Y.M.C.A. BOYS AT PARLEY

Sixteen Local Boys at Santa Barbara 'Y' Conference Last Week

The Glendaleans who attended the Hi-Y conference at Santa Barbara, returned Sunday evening in time for church services. This conference is an annual affair, conducted for the inspiration and development of boys from all over the state who are capable of Christian leadership in their home, church, school and community, and is therefore for the older boys of the organization.

The party included G. Edwin Murphy, Howard Butterfield and Secretary Rex Kelley, and the following boys: Harry Bennett, Leslie La Velle, Don Cameron, Alton Mattice, George Jordan (who was elected reporter for the Los Angeles county delegation), Maynard Toll, Phillips Henderson, Dale Wood, Leslie Hatch, Robert Frazee, Lee Shannon, Arlin McCormick, Paul Edmonds, Neal McIver, Newton McCullis, Cecil Wilson, Theodore Hagg, Lee Payne.

They reached Santa Barbara Friday afternoon and were assigned to quarters, Santa Barbara royally entertaining them, opening palatial homes to these visitors who were gladly received as guests, and those not assigned to private homes were provided for at the exclusive hotels at the expense of Santa Barbara. At a meeting held in the Methodist church of Santa Barbara the same afternoon, delegates were instructed in regard to convention matters, and Paul Edmonds of Glendale was made a member of the nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for the League of California Hi-Y Clubs.

In the evening a banquet was given at the same church, with C. C. Chapman of Fullerton acting as toastmaster. Harry Rimmer of Los Angeles was the speaker on the theme "Dynamite," his main thought being "power," and what can be accomplished if it is properly directed.

Saturday morning, the convention met at the Santa Barbara Presbyterian church, where officers for the coming year were elected. In conformity with the custom which gives the presidency to the hostess city, Lewis Goodrich of Santa Barbara was chosen to head the ticket, Lloyd Hassel of Santa Ana was made vice-president, and Dale Wood of Glendale, secretary.

A noon banquet was given at the Y. M. C. A., and at the time the location for the next convention was decided. Invitations had been received from Long Beach, Redlands and San Diego. Glendale boys led the cheering for Redlands, but San Diego won when the vote was taken.

In the afternoon the 351 delegates were given an auto ride to the show estates in and around Santa Barbara by the Rotary Club, the ride terminating at the state normal college, where the boys were welcomed by the president and addressed by Dr. McCowin, a celebrated writer of fiction for young people, his best

HUNT FOR VICTIMS IN THEATRE FIRE

New Haven Motion Picture House Scene of Fire Sunday Night

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28.—The smouldering ruins of the Rialto theater were being dug up by parties of searchers today in the hunt for more victims of the fire, which caused three known deaths. Others are believed to have perished in the blaze and their bodies buried in the burning debris.

More than 60 persons were injured in the fight to reach the exits or seriously burned by the flames which leaped through the theater while 600 persons were watching the moving picture exhibition. Five draperies were ignited by an incense pot and in a few seconds the entire theater was a mass of flames.

BANKER ODELL IS SENT TO PATTON

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 28.—J. C. Odell, former president and principal stockholder of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank of this city, this morning was committed to the Patton hospital, following an examination in the superior court. The loss of over $400,000 loaned W. F. McShane on forged bills of lading, is believed to have wrecked the former banker's mind. The bank was saved at the time by the Hellmans of Los Angeles, taking it over and operating it as a branch.

known book being "The Trail a Boy Travels." He outlined the story of his new book, "The Golden Key."

Saturday evening the Rotary Club was again the host to the boys at a banquet at the Y. M. C. A., when Harry Rimmer gave another inspiring message on "Training Down."

A meeting in the Presbyterian church, which followed the banquet, was turned over to the college men of the conference, who entertained with a variety of stunts and songs. Howard Butterfield of Glendale had a prominent part in this program.

A session was held Sunday morning at 9:30 in the high school auditorium, followed by addresses made by boy delegates at the various churches. Dale Wood speaking at the Christian church.

The Sunday afternoon session was held in the Christian church, when a summary of all the findings of the convention was read by Secretary Dale Wood and Harry Rimmer gave a talk on "The Valley of Decision," in which he gave a graphic description of that valley in Northern California, where Indian tribes met government representatives in 1849.

The boys wore arm bands which had been furnished by the Glendale chapter of commerce, consisting of white ribbon on which was printed: "Glendale Hi-Y from the Bungalow City." The bands attracted much attention and favorable comment.

MOVING DAY SHOWS MUCH ACTIVITY

Completion of New Brick Blocks Cause of Much Moving in Eagle Rock

Saturday was moving day with the business men in Eagle Rock, and a few less than a dozen firms have changed their business location. The completion of several new brick blocks was the cause of many seeking new and more commodious quarters. In the list below the postoffice is not included for it was moved into new quarters a week ago.

The activity in business lines in Eagle Rock is remarkable, and several new concerns are seeking store-rooms, and it is sure that several more business blocks are to be constructed very soon.

Willey & Haimbaugh
The first to get settled was the new electrical firm of Willey & Haimbaugh. Their beautiful new and roomy quarters in the postoffice block are being admired by their many friends and patrons, for they have already established a fine trade in this city and vicinity. Their store room is 30x70 feet and looks like a real city store with its large and varied display of gas and electric heaters and many other articles electrical and otherwise.

Sam Seelig & Co.
Doubtless no other business concern that has located in Eagle Rock has caused quite the commotion and interest as the coming of the Sam Seelig Co. He is so well known over the entire Southern California district that no extended mention is necessary. He now has 63 stores, the Eagle Rock store carrying that number. The huge store building at the corner of Colorado and Central was built for his company, and is a splendid one in size and appearance. Every one took a look at it Saturday.

In addition to the grocery department the following will be conducted as a part of the store, but under separate firms: Meat department, Dredge & Crilly; vegetables and produce, Coast City Fruit & Products Co.; bakery, by a Glendale baker.

Mr. Thomas Gresham, of Glendale, who has long been connected with the company and has made good, will be the manager here.

Glendale Realty Co.
The Glendale Realty company has moved into the building of the Eagle Rock fuel and feed company and has a comfortable office. This company is getting ready to do a big business. A. D. Knox is the live-wire manager.

Lamb & Sons
Eagle Rock is to have a first class undertaking parlor, and the same is being put in by Lamb & Sons, who have recently purchased a fine piece of property at 704 South Central avenue, Eagle Rock. Chas. D. Goodale will be the manager, and is an experienced man in his line. In speaking of the new enterprise Mr. Goodale said:

"Our business will be an asset and one known as an Eagle Rock establishment on account of our purchasing a valuable piece of real estate, also stock, fixtures and equipment which totals an investment of approximately $30,000."

"Mr. and Mrs. Chas. D. Goodale are in charge of the business and are re-locating to Eagle Rock this week. Mr. Goodale is a licensed embalmer and has had ten years' experience in all phases of funeral management, and is thoroughly competent and able to render unqualified service to the community which is always characteristic of our institution. Mrs. Goodale will assist Mr. Goodale in caring for women and children in a tender and sympathetic manner which is distinctly hers."

"We also offer to the public prompt ambulance service for removing the sick and invalids to any part of Southern California. Our goal is to 'make good' and to serve faithfully, to improve our opportunities, to be a part of the community which we serve, and to render the best that is known in our profession. Upon this foundations we feel we merit your patronage."

Beauty Parlor Opens
At 108 West Colorado, in the same block, is the Wolcott Beauty Parlor, just moved in and ready for business. The place is very attractive.

Sol Ganz Place
Another important opening occurred Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Sol Ganz opened their ice cream and refreshment parlor in the corner of the Seelig grocery. They have spared neither money nor effort in equipment of their place with the finest kind of fixtures, including oak finish cigar, candy and other cases; a large counter with 12 of the most modern stools and foot rests; as well as other conveniences. They have secured a first-class soda dispenser and will conduct a high class place in every way.

East End Grocery
Another change was made this week when Mr. C. Cooley, an experienced grocer from Los Angeles, purchased and took possession of the grocery and market at 812 East Colorado. He no doubt will succeed. He has secured an experienced man in the person of R. Moody, of Eagle Rock avenue, to conduct the meat market department.

Pickett Dyers and Cleaners
One of the prettiest and most conveniently arranged small store rooms is that of the Pickett Dyers and Cleaners, at 106 West Colorado boulevard, in the Seelig building. These young men are certainly making everyone sit up and take notice, and now that they are settled in their new quarters, will no doubt do a splendid business, as they deserve.

ARREST BANDITS
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 28.—Four suspects, charged with having participated in the robbery of the Liberty theatre here November 7, when $9000 was stolen from the playhouse safe, were lodged in the county jail here today. Their arrests came yesterday after one of their number had confessed. One of the suspects is a woman.

Most of work's wear and tear on a man comes from his going to it all frayed out by his play.

STAGE CARPENTER PULLS REAL TRAGEDY

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 28.—As the curtain slowly descended at the end of a little sketch "Under the Apple Tree," here, a shot rang out and Miss Cecile Hartley, actress, dropped, probably fatally wounded. Another shot and Jack Grubb, stage carpenter from New York, fell with a bullet in his head. Police say he shot the girl and then killed himself. The girl's condition was reported critical and it was feared she might die. Police believe Grubb had made advances to Miss Hartley and when she repulsed, he pulled the revolver and fired.

PROGRESSIVE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY RANCHERS PLAN FIELD MEET NEAR VAN NUYS

During the past two months field meetings of ranchers have been of almost daily occurrence in the Northern part of the State and it is planned to hold a similar field meet in the San Fernando Valley.

Leading ranching committees, realizing that they have individual problems to solve which they must solve for themselves, have formed community field gatherings where the most practical tillage methods for that particular locality have been studied and decided upon.

The Northern ranchers have accomplished wonders and added profits by making a study of their problems in a practical manner and it is already an established fact that the California ranchers and orchardists stand head and shoulders over their Eastern brothers in the use of power farm machinery.

At the field meet to be held next Wednesday, November 30th, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., at Max Pfaffinger's ranch, corner Sherman Way and Woodley avenue, 2½ miles west of Van Nuys, the ranchers will see a special operation of the Holt Mfg. Co.'s new small size caterpillar tractor. Not enough machines of this new model were completed in time to take part in the tractor demonstration at the late San Fernando Valley Fair, and many of the ranchers and orchardists of the Valley who were disappointed in not seeing this revolutionizing tractor at work, have arranged for the firms that are represented in the "Better Farming Tours" to spend Wednesday, November 30th with the Valley ranchers.

These firms include the Holt Mfg. Co., the Killefer Mfg. Co. and the Dixon & Griswold Co. The new Holt Co.'s new small size caterpillar tractor can be operated at a nominal expense of fuel and lubrication. It is an entirely new design that has been built to meet the peculiar requirements of the California rancher and orchardist.

This is the first season for the small caterpillar, and it already has engaged the favorable attention of many progressive ranchers who are seeking economy in operation, coupled with the utmost service.

The new tractor will be seen operating the Killefer Mfg. Co.'s deep tillage tool, the sub-soiler, cultivator and Disc Harrow, for the benefit of the rancher, and Dixon & Griswold's La Crosse Orchard Disc and Mold Board Plows for the benefit of the orchardist.

The H. G. Pendell Co., of Los Angeles, will transport the tractors and implements to the Valley in a Denby Truck and two trailers.

The ranchers from all parts of the Valley are invited to be present and participate in the big ranchers' field meet near Van Nuys. —Adv.

KOHLER CAME BACK JUST AS PROMISED

Theodore Roosevelt Once
Endorsed Him and Now is Mayor of Fifth City

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—Cleveland's Mayor-elect Fred T. Kohler has made good his promise to "come back." After eight years he has risen from a fallen chief of police to the head of the municipal government of the fifth city of the nation.

"Cleveland some day will elect me its mayor," Kohler told his friends when he was dismissed from the superintendency of the police department here nearly a decade ago.

His friends said he was dreaming. But Kohler kept on "dreaming," and as he "dreamed" he laid his plans. Friend and foe alike were startled several months ago with his announcement of his candidacy for mayor.

"He hasn't a ghost of a chance," folks said. Kohler felt differently. "The police of Cleveland will shine their shoes and they'll keep them shined while I am mayor," was Kohler's retort.

Unlike his opponents, Kohler made no campaign pledges nor no campaign speeches. He announced no platform. Instead, he confined his efforts to a "doorbell drive." He made a house to house canvass.

Ministers and church workers organized to defeat Kohler. From church pulpits the cry went up that "Kohler must be beaten." But Fred had friends. The latter rallied and swept him into office by an overwhelming majority.

"Theodore Roosevelt called me the best police chief in the country," Kohler declared when hosts of admirers swarmed around to congratulate him. "And I'm going to make the best mayor Cleveland has ever had."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating
Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble—Adv.

American Indians Have Big Future Declares Cato Sells

Official in Charge of Indian Affairs for Uncle Sam in Wilson Term Declares Increase in Indian Population in 1920 Showed More Than 30,000; Points to Progress of
All Indian Tribes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The American Indians are not a decadent race, but, on the contrary, are a growing people with a promising future, according to the opinion of Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian Affairs during the Wilson administration.

The prevailing belief that the American Indians are steadily declining in number is described by the former commissioner as a fallacy. The misconception that the American Indians are in imminent danger of extinction is probably based upon the opinion that in pre-colonial days the native population was much greater than at present. As a matter of fact, it has never been authentically determined just how many Indians were in this country at the time of the coming of the white man, and the most generally accepted figures are merely estimates.

"The Indian population at one time was apparently diminishing; at another time it was fixed; but it has never been decadent," Sells declares. Active imagination and adventurous spirit characterized the age in which America was discovered. It was an age of exaggeration, when information grew out of fancy as well as fact.

Pioneers' Legends

The pioneers in this country, as they learned of the vast expanse of territory beyond their settlements on the Atlantic coast, became imbued with the idea that Indians swarmed in countless hordes over the enormous stretches of forest and plain. Naturally, the legendary lore of an immense Indian population during the colonial days became the general belief of succeeding generations and is the prevalent opinion today. But, according to Sells, neither exact knowledge nor reasonable deduction sustains this widely-existent belief.

The first federal census of the Indian population, taken in 1850, was largely an estimate and is supposed to have included many Mexicans and aliens residing in Indian country at the time, in view of the fact that the census of ten years later showed a decrease of approximately 150,000 Indians.

The Indian population of the United States in 1910 was 304,950, and in 1920 it was 336,337, an increase in the decade of 31,387. The only year in this period in which the Indian population failed to record an increase was the year of the Spanish influenza epidemic. This, in the opinion of Sells, is conclusive evidence that the American Indians are far from the brink of total extinction.

Absorb White Man's Customs

When the white man came to this country the Indian was an untamed, uncivilized savage. Gradually, as the white men increased in numbers in the newly discovered continent, he reluctantly expanded throughout the country. The Indians were thrown into constant contact with the new civilization. Detrimental to both reds and whites for many years, marked by terrible slaughter and bloodshed, this contact brought about a slow but sure change in the life of the red man. Slowly, perhaps against his will, the Indian inevitably absorbed the white man's civilization, his bad and good characteristics, until he became an established part in the everyday life of the nation.

Times have changed. Today the Indian is one of the least troublesome of all the various human elements that constitute the population of this great country. The Indian race has progressed amazingly. From a wild, savage existence of several hundred years ago, when tribe fought tribe, bands fought bands, dissension and conflict surged over the land, all impelled by the impulses and desires of savage life, the Indians have become for the most part peaceable, law-abiding citizens.

The old-time paper-backed dime novels containing the thrilling and familiar "Bang! Another Indian bit the dust!" are today on the shelf with ancient history volumes. No longer is the Indian a barbarous savage, lusting for blood, but a prime factor in America's industrial and agricultural activities.

WINNERS IN RACE OF LIFE IS THEME

At the First Methodist church Sunday morning the Rev. C. M. Crist preached to a full house, his theme being, "Winners in Life's Race." I Cor. 9:24-27. Dr. Crist said in part:

"We often fail because we do not get an adequate conception of God's purpose concerning us here. We think of the Almighty's provision for our spirits after death and fail to recognize His abundant supply for the life that now is. The Psalmist had the right conception when he said, 'The Lord hath brought me out into a large place.' The fact is that the best is not too good for those made in the image of God. Everything that expands and enlarges life, God wants us to have. We should rid ourselves of the erroneous idea that because one is a Christian he must suffer. Listen to the words of Jesus, 'that My joy may remain in you and that your joy may be full.'"

"First, then, in order to win in life's race, we must have a mighty aspiration, a holy ambition which demand heaven here and now. Heaven as a place is necessarily deferred, but heavenly conditions may be experienced now. Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and all these things will be added unto you," said Jesus. Ordinarily we reverse the order and put heavenly things last.

"We should go after the best and get it. We are to be victors, not victims. We are to be winners, not losers."

"But," said Dr. Crist, "all that God puts into our lives is to find expression in service. Only as one assumes the attitude of a Distributor does he get the fullness of blessing. There is a profound Christian philosophy in the hymn, 'Make me a channel of blessing.'"

"Possibly there never was such a demand upon the church for ministry. The need of the world is enough to break the heart of God. It is a mighty challenge to the church. We must develop a generosity never yet expressed in the church of Christ."

"There must be with it all," said Rev. Crist, "an increased spirituality. The church will never win in life's race by living 'at a poor dying rate.' There must be the fullness of the blessing of God. With the great open doors of opportunity and privilege before us let us not lag behind but let us be winners in life's race."

GERMANY READY TO GIVE ASSURANCE

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Germany is prepared to offer guarantees that she has disarmed to allay fears of the French, according to a dispatch to the London Chronicle from Berlin, quoting "an official statement from the German ministry of defense." This is taken as the German reply to the speech of Premier Briand before the Washington disarmament conference in which the French premier pointed to "a German military menace" as the reason for France refusing to substantially reduce her armies.

Truths in Epigram

The illusion that times that were better than those that are, has probably pervaded all ages.

—Horace Greeley

(1811-1872).

This I set down as a positive truth. A woman with fair opportunities and without a positive hump, may marry whom she likes.—William Makepeace Thackeray (1811-1863).

AVERTING WAR

H. G. Wells says he thinks a war on the Pacific has been averted for some years at least. He gives this much credit to the conference. In doing so he gives it far less than it deserves. Inadvertently he does an injustice to the country of his birth and affection.

If war may be averted for ten years, it may be averted for any number of years. Even if other conferences must mark each decade so as to insure peace for the decade just ahead, the experiment would be worth while.

Where Wells does injustice to England is in the intimation that it might encourage Japan to fight the United States. For all the military development of Japan, for it alone to attack the United States, would be insanity. The only power that could aid it would be England. Therefore Wells is saying, apparently quite unconscious of what he is saying, that England a little later may connive with Japan in a war with this nation. This is out of agreement with his former statements.

The theory that nations must go to war is the rotten and repellent doctrine of the Ludendorffs of the world. The people of nations do not want to go to war, and will not do so, unless under some provocation so deep as to be beyond present imagining. If they do go to war, civilization is through. If the ruling statesmen try to force them to go to war, the form of government that makes this possible, will be through.

ALMOST HELPLESS

The question of how to deal with juvenile offenders is abiding. There seems to be no answer. Training and environment, and heredity all are equations. These cannot be standardized and made generally beneficial.

Two boys of fifteen and eighteen, brothers, were released on parole recently. Both had been in state reform schools. They were released on honor in order that they might visit their mother who was about to die.

As they stood by the death bed they promised to go straight. The very day that the mother died, the pair stole an automobile. As they fled towards Arizona they robbed an oil station. Finally their machine broke down and they were caught.

What shall be done with such boys? They are typical of a growing class, and yet it hardly is probable that many youths are so low as to have broken at once a promise given under such solemn circumstances. The case seems almost hopeless. The probability of saving the brothers to lives of usefulness, appears remote indeed.

Society regrets to see any material running thus to waste. It would be glad to amend the morals of the erring. It has plenty of theories, but the application, even if possible, is likely to be inefficient. Ahead of these wild and foolish lads there is scant promise of orderly, lawful future.

CALL OF THE COMMUNISTS

A call has been issued for a national convention of communists. The object is to organize a party to be known as the Workers' party. One purpose of the body will be abolition of capital.

Americans lately returned from abroad say there is no danger of bolshevism even in Europe, where it had obtained a start. The proposed gathering would be essentially bolshevistic. It matters little what these hectic moves may be termed. They are alike in principle, and they must fall from sheer weight of their own folly.

Among the names signed to the call may be noticed Engdahl, Trachtenberg, Salutsky, Wisnack, Juditz, and other suggesting equally the unlabeled seepage of Ellis Island.

The ethics proclaimed in the call had been wrought into a governing code and tried in Russia. There it has been found guilty. It has been a ghastly failure, reaching a climax in poverty, famine, disease and death. Yet the people of Russia had been desperate. They were spurred by the memory of ancient wrongs. Some of them really had hoped to bring about betterments. The effort died away in measureless tragedy.

A dead bolshevism can't be translated to the soil of America and revived. It is too strikingly dead, and the soil is not congenial. While the convention is in session the police naturally will be on the alert, but otherwise the occasion will not merit special notice.

WHERE THEY DO NOT FIT

"Those who seek to kindle religious or racial prejudices have no place in this new America."

Thus states an editorial in Collier's. The editorial is admirable in spirit. It is not precisely accurate as to detail, for it does not say exactly what it means.

The kindlers of prejudice should have no place here. They do not belong. They constitute an element in every way jarring. Their presence is a calamity and their activity is an insolence; but they are here.

It would be fortunate if all Americans measured up to the standard indicated by Collier's. That they do not is attested by the treatment an evil brood of commentators has given the disarmament conference. In attendance there have been writers whose sole purpose was to do harm, to stir up animosity, to create doubt in the possibility of good faith among men.

These correspondents have not hesitated to lie as to the motives and conduct of the delegates and the nations represented. They have misconstrued every utterance and every gesture. They have scoffed at the real purpose of the gathering. They have sought in their malign stupidity to create the belief that an occasion planned and dominated by the United States, was designed solely to lead this country into a trap. It had plotted to deliver itself bound hand and foot over to the combined prowess of England and Japan.

Perhaps never in the history of journalism has any group been guilty of such crass stupidity and such disloyalty. It is to be remembered, however, that the members of it are employed by a concern that was pro-German in the war, pro-bolshevist since; that expends much of its energy in the effort to bring about conflict with England, with Japan, and that a short time ago desired Mexico invaded, raided and seized. The atmosphere must be poison to morals and deadly to intelligence.

Were the charges brought by mischief-makers true, the President or the United States could be, and ought to be, impeached. His secretary of state, instead of filling the role of diplomat with fine loyalty and acumen, would be a disgrace to the nation, a traitor and knave.

By taking this attitude towards the conduct of the oily and treacherous traducers of American thought and principle, their conduct stands revealed in all its depravity.

Truly they ought not to have a place in this new America.

THE PERFECT CO-ED

Somebody anxious to ascertain the behavior of college girls issued a "morality questionnaire" to the co-eds at Northwestern recently. It seems to have been an impertinent procedure. The list of questions was not traceable to official source. However, the girls filled in the answers.

The questions sought to find out if the girls had cheated, been kissed, had ever smoked, ever consciously told a lie, etc., etc. The final query was this: "Have you ever done anything that you would conceal from your parents?"

One girl answered eight out of the ten questions in the affirmative. Not one girl answered all in the negative, the best record being that of the student who wrote nine negatives. And after all, what was learned? Not a thing.

The girl who made the most admissions admitted, in reply to one question, that she had cheated. Perhaps she was cheating again when she wrote in this answer.

Girls are quite as stubborn as boys. It would be quite like a co-ed of perfect conduct to make herself out a desperate character, while the really forward one would be prone to give herself a spotless reputation.

Propounding questions in series has grown to be a habit. Sometimes it is a useful habit, but generally merely foolish.

Where America Meets Europe

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It is in the little occupied territory around the German city of Coblenz that America meets Europe.

What Europe will think of us tomorrow depends upon our little group of Americans there to a great degree.

Most people in the U. S. A. think about this small army of occupation not at all. They who do think of it misconceive it as a rule.

Hence we should note these ten points:

1. American soldiers in our occupied territory in Germany are not walking about with muskets on their shoulders terrorizing the inhabitants. To any one who will come and visit the place this idea is simply funny.

2. The Germans like the American soldiers. Of course it is not a pleasant thing to have any foreign soldiers in one's home territory, but, as long as some are necessary in order to carry out the Treaty of Peace, the German people much prefer Americans to any others. Their relations with our soldiers are very friendly. The Germans in this territory are carrying on their own business as they always have done. They manage their own affairs, hold their own courts, are in no wise intimidated.

3. American soldiers like the place. Those who have to go home hate to leave. They are not suffering from privations, and indeed are leading about as pleasant lives as it is possible for soldiers to lead.

4. American soldiers are not idle. They are kept in the pink of condition by constant attention to duty. They are not living in luxury and idleness and degenerating.

5. The leisure of the soldier and all their recreation is taken care of by the Y. M. C. A., which works in perfect harmony with the officers of the army. The Y. M. C. A. runs all the canteens, manages the games and sports, and otherwise sees to the soldiers' recreation. And every soldier in the territory swears by the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross.

6. The American army in the occupied territory is the finest army in the world in point of discipline, morale and intelligence.

7. Although there is no prohibition in this territory there is little or no drunkenness. No native is allowed to sell brandy or other strong liquors to the soldier, and if he does so his place is closed up. Most of the soldiers frequent the Y. M. C. A. canteens, where no alcoholic liquors are dispensed.

8. If the American army moves out of this territory the French will move in. This will make friction and trouble, as there is bad blood between the French and the Germans. This hostility does not exist between the Germans and the Americans. We are very friendly.

9. Most people hope that some day all of the foreign forces will be taken off of German territory, but it is quite essential that the Americans stay as long as any other forces, for as long as they stay the situation is much more hopeful. There is a strong feeling among the French that they never expect to leave the Rhine. The presence of the American troops, therefore, in the Rhine territory is one of the best guarantees that the seeds of another war will not be planted.

10. To sum up: the presence of the American troops in the occupied territory of Germany carrying out the provisions of the treaty of Versailles is a good thing for the peace of the world, it is a good thing as a guarantee of future peace between France and Germany, it is a good thing for the Germans and they like it, and it is a good thing for the boys of the American army. Any mother whose boy is in this army may be comforted with the assurance that he is living in conditions about as favorable to his morale as could be found under any military conditions.

THE LISTENING POST

The battle between the sun and the cloud.
Or the fog.
You have been a witness of it many times, but perhaps you have never noticed it.
We are all witnesses of many things we do not notice.

That may seem a queer statement.
But it is true.
In the spring we are witnesses of the marvels of budding and blossoming and bloom.
But few of us notice.
We know that the tree yesterday was bare of limb.
That today it is flecked with green leaves just beginning.

But of the interval we know little.
We have seen but we have not observed.
The little steps of unfolding and blossoming and unwinding and all that we have not noticed.
So we are witnesses of many things we do not observe.

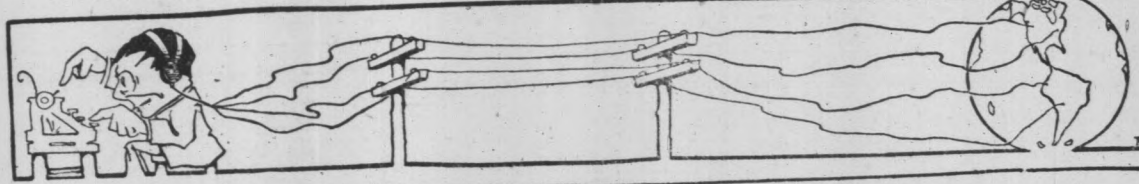

For there is a great difference between seeing and observation.
We see the stars.
The scientist and astronomer observes them.
We gain a fleeting impression.
The astronomer gains knowledge.
That is the difference between mere sight and observation.
One conveys an impression.
The other discloses knowledge.

And in the field there are marvels of life about us.
The struggle of species with species.
The life activity of the ant.
The song of the lark.
The unfolding of the butterfly.
The hatching of the egg.

The naturalist observes.
The mere passer-by sees.
And most of us are merely passers-by.
There is a great class of people in the world whose chief expressions are: "I didn't notice," and "I didn't think!"

So in the battle of the sun with the cloud or the fog.
It goes on in the skies above us often.
In the souls of us many times.
And here is another allegory.
As we have many times explained.

The sky is leaden and gray.
The sun is hidden.
And the morning is, as we say, overcast.
Overcast with cloud.
The blue of the normal sky is back of the cloud

SONGS OF THE POETS

Thrice Happy He—By William Drummond (1585-1649)

Thrice happy he, who by some shady grove,
Far from the clamorous world, doth live his own;
Though solitary, who is not alone.
But doth converse with that eternal love.
O how more sweet is birds' harmonious moan,
Or the soft sobbing of the widowed dove,
Than those smooth whisperings near a prince's throne.

Which good make doubtful, do the evil approve!
Or how more sweet is Zephyr's wholesome breath,
And sighs perfumed which do the flowers unfold,
Than that applause vain honor doth bequeath!
How sweet are streams to poison drunk in gold!
The world is full of horrors, falsehoods, slights;
Woods' silent shades have only true delights.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

A good way for the powers to extend financial aid to China would be to pay the Chinese for the property that has been swiped from them.

Why should the sex of a juror have any bearing on the outcome of a trial, since a fact is a fact?

There are stubborn persons at the disarmament conference. The "greatest thinker in the world" (see modest advertisements) offers to do all their thinking for them, and they turn him down cold. Which makes him hot.

Congressmen are going to have a junket into Canada, it is said, as the guests of a man particularly despised by all Canadians. Perhaps a pleasant time will be had by all present.

Another sure cure for tuberculosis is announced from Paris. The list grows long without seeming to retain the quality of sureness.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHERE THE JUDGE SLIPPED

[Springfield Union]

Judge Ben B. Lindsey is morally and ethically right in declaring against the "double standard" of prohibition, under which the rich man is enabled to have a cellarful of liquor while the poor man has none, but he was equally wrong in refusing to apply the law to three young men who were brought into his court for having given drinks of liquor to two girls. While prohibition continues to be the law it is his duty to enforce it in all cases that come before him. It is not left with the various courts to determine which laws shall and which shall not be enforced. If that were the case confusion would ensue and there would be little respect for any laws. The only course left open to the courts is to enforce all laws honestly and impartially. If any law is unjust or obnoxious to the people, the remedy lies in bringing about its repeal.

GREATEST AMERICAN WASTE

[Chicago Evening Post.]

During last year:
The fire waste ran higher than $500,000,000 in the United States:

It was nearly equal to the loss in 1906, the year of the San Francisco fire;
It was larger than any other year except 1906;
Fifteen thousand people lost their lives in fires;
Sixty thousand were injured;
Fires averaged one per minute;
Fires burned one-fourth the number of the year's new buildings;
Most extraordinary fact of all—one hospital burned every day.

And seventy-five per cent of all these conflagrations are due to carelessness.

No wonder "Fire Prevention Week" has come into being. Only by making ourselves stop, look and think can we hope to cut down this most shameful of the great American wastes.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

This seems to be the age of speed. So did the time when the locomotive had attained to a rushing velocity of 30 miles an hour. In respect of speed, as of other things, all is relative.

Thanksgiving day the driver of an automobile, without a stop, He moved at the average rate of 109.7 miles per hour.

He established a record.

He went faster than 250 miles that he had been accomplished on wheels. It was a wonderful achievement; wonderful in more than the courage and endurance of the individual. Think of the cunningness and strength of the mechanical construction that obeyed his touch! Mile after mile without pause or deviation: a triumph of skill as marked as that of the pilot.

Recently an aviator tried to establish a new record for speed. He was able to accomplish only a little less than 200 miles an hour. The mark at which he aimed was about 207 miles an hour. So while the automobile is swift the airplane is swifter.

There is no telling at what figure the limit of either will be reached. Of course, there is a limit. Probably experimenters never will be satisfied that it has been attained.

Wise men hooted—of course, in a dignified manner—at the suggestion that life could be sustained while cleaving the air at thirty miles an hour.

Oregon has been through a tremendous storm, or rather, a tremendous storm has been through Oregon. The amount of snow that fell was almost beyond precedent. However, the effects of that visitation will be observed in smiling fields and laden orchards later.

The "greatest thinker in the world" announces that turkeys were eaten Thanksgiving, but no eagles.

Probably he is correct. The eagle lends itself but imperfectly to purposes of gastronomy. Crow, however, is not unknown as an article of diet, and this wisest man in the world is stewing himself a mess of it. As he seems unaware of the fact, he is less wise than his title might seem to imply.

A group of correspondents at the conference are howling and hissing denunciation against any alliance and all alliances.

The eccentric scribes seem to have figured out that it would be easier and finer to fight the world than to enter into friendly relations with it.

Back in New York a woman who had supported her husky but lazy husband for four years asked him to go to work. When he met the request with blows, she shot him.

Doubtless this was drastic treatment, yet why woman should permit that sort of husband around the house would be difficult to explain.

It is singular that every crime should have imitators, but it is true.

One of the signs of low moral average has been the kidnapping of girls. Only a portion of such acts reported are genuine. After every actual instance, some hysterical girl disappears for just long enough to return as the rescued heroine of this type of unlabeled adventure.

There is much significance in the coming marriage of an English princess to a plain citizen, or at least one one free from any taint of royalty.

Only a few years ago such an alliance would have been impossible. Thus kings were all cousins, and, it is greatly to be feared, the stock ran down.

One of the late duties of the senate before adjournment was to take up 500 minor appointments made by the President.

It is singular that the executive of a great nation should have to putter with the task of bracing up political fences for congressmen.

When the President has appointed a cabinet he ought to have about him a set of men quite competent to name subordinates.

A reporter published something purporting to be the confession of a man charged with a capital offense. To the publication he appended a statement that the prisoner had given the confession voluntarily, but with the speculation that it was not to be printed, and that in case of its being printed, he would deny it absolutely.

The public, inclined usually to be credulous, failed to swallow this contribution to letters. That a prisoner had found amusement in formulating a confession for the purpose of denying it later lacked reasonableness.

It is said, now that the trial is on, that the "confession" is not even to be introduced. Such lack of faith in the scribe must be painful to him.

SOANGETAH CAMP
HAS INITIATION MEETING
The Soangetah Camp Fire girls held an initiation meeting on Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Cook, 712 South Pacific avenue, at which time eight new members were taken into the organization. The new members are: Miss Marie Hearnshaw, Miss Sarah McClure, Miss Calera Primmer, Miss Elphine Truitt, Miss Zelma Carver, Miss Elaine Buttrud, Miss Marjorie Guntion and Miss Doris Osmun.

They also elected a new guardian, Miss Dorothy Gaston, teacher of French in the high school. During the evening the new members gave a little skit which proved to be a parody on "Way Down East." Later a large bonfire was built in the orchard and the girls enjoyed a marshmallow bake.

MOTORED TO LEBEC OVER WEEK-END

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts motored Saturday to Lebec on the Ridge route, where they had dinner at the new hotel on the lake. It was a very satisfactory meal and the trip through the country in its fall garb was thoroughly delightful. They returned the same evening and on Sunday the Roberts were guests at a belated Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stott, 614 N. Brand.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peck and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Archer. The family celebration had been delayed because Mr. Peck and Mr. Archer spent Thanksgiving on a duck hunt which was expected to provide the birds for the feast. But they returned with game bags empty and duck, they did not see a duck, they left again this morning.

GLENDALE ELKS HAVE MERRY PARTY

The Elks' Thanksgiving dance Saturday night proved a success financially as well as socially, for there were about 400 couples there. During the early part of the evening dancing was enjoyed in the upper ballroom, and at 10:30 it became so crowded that it was necessary to open the lower hall.

An impromptu orchestra was organized for downstairs and the dancers divided evenly. The music on both floors was exceedingly "peppy" and during the course of the evening many kewpie dolls and boxes of candy were awarded, this helping to swell the Christmas fund. All tickets have not been turned in, but it is expected that the total amount about $400 will be cleared, all of which will be added to the Christmas fund.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Doggett of 1647 South Gardner avenue entertained Saturday night at a 500 card party, the guests from Glendale including Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Woodbury, Mrs. J. N. Server and son, John Server.

Mrs. Server carried off first prize for high score. Later in the evening refreshments were served by the hostess.

Christmas is coming! If we had not received the news by some other route we would know it by the Christmas bazaar. Two are to be held this week. A very ambitious one, "The Seven Ages of Woman," is being put on by women of the Congregational church to make money for the new church fund. It is a two-day affair, given Thursday and Friday and will have some very attractive features aside from fine stock of pretty things to sell.

The other bazaar is being given Saturday by ladies of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church and, weather permitting, will be an outdoor fete, very prettily staged in the church grounds.

Miss Nancy St. Clair was the conductor of the Christian Endeavor train at the Tropico Presbyterian church Sunday evening. The train started promptly at 6:30 with chairs placed car fashion, and after passing the stations of song, prayer, scripture and gossip, where announcements were made by Walter Sullivan, president, the train proceeded to thought station, where a view of Christian work among the Mexicans, Japanese and other strangers in our country was given by members.

At 7:20 the inspector, Rev. Blue, the stated supply of the church, spoke, followed by a duet by Mrs. Newell Root and her sister, Miss Nancy St. Clair. Announcement was made that the train would leave next Sunday at the same time and place. After the closing mizpah, passengers changed cars, going into the church auditorium, sitting in a body and helping in the singing.

LABORATORY MEETS TONIGHT FROM 7 TO 9 O'CLOCK

Will Be Under Auspices of Chamber of Commerce Members Invited

A general invitation has been extended to the members of the Glendale chamber of commerce to attend the opening of the Harrower Laboratory on East Broadway tonight between 7 and 9 o'clock. The opening will be held under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, although, on account of the limited number of invitations issued, all of the members of the chamber were not included on the invitation list, each member of the chamber is invited.

"We want every member of the chamber present at this opening," said Secretary Rhoades this morning. "This is a chamber of commerce event and certainly every member of our organization will be afforded the warmest kind of a welcome."

NOW, WHAT TO GIVE MOTHER

For Christmas? It seems to me that one of the wonderful Eureka vacuums, such as the JEWEL ELECTRIC CO. of 200 E. Broadway, are making a special offer on this week, would be just the thing! You know, they are such a help—and particularly when she bears alone the responsibility of housekeeping. You see at the Jewel Electric Co. you can buy this Eureka for only $55.00—and with a full set of attachments given away absolutely free! That makes it possible for her to do all her dusting, etc., with the vacuum, by simply changing the attachment she'll be able to clean the upholstered furniture—the davenport or overstuffed chairs—and to get into the remotest corners. With one of these special attachments the books may all be dusted, without having to lift them down and back again into place! Stop in at the Jewel Electric Co. and ask to have the Eureka demonstrated for you—then when you're satisfied (as I know you will be) a small deposit paid will hold it for you until Christmas week!

PRESS OF EUROPE IS FIGHTING IT OUT WITH FRENCH

France Refusal to Reduce Army is Causing Much Comment in Papers

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The press of England, Germany and Italy was arrayed against the press of France today—and all turned to America for support. They pleaded their cases thus:

BRITAIN, favorably accepting the hint for an association of nations, denounced France for her refusal to reduce armaments.

GERMAN papers looked favorably on the possibility that she may be invited to the arms conference, perhaps the nations' association, and declared she would advance guarantees to France that Germany has discarded militarism.

ITALY'S press called for a "show down on the disagreement of French and Italian delegates" in Washington and tagged France as "militaristic." FRANCE admitted that "most of the world seemed to have turned against her silently while they soothed her with soft words," received with suspicion the association of nations suggestion and declared that France must protect her securities with armies. The press of France was most anxious over the reported invitation of Germany to the Washington conference.

ARTHUR BURCH MAY RUN SODA FOUNTAIN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—The Hollywood Soda Fountain and Tea Rooms, Arthur C. Burch, proprietor. This is the legend, according to Arthur, which will make its appearance over a natty little shop in Hollywood if the jury in the hoped-for verdict of acquittal.

"I've a friend out Hollywood way who owns a confectionery store," the busy, amiable little person who is accused of perpetrating one of the most mysterious and cold-blooded murders in California criminal annals, confided to newspapermen today. "This friend wants me to go into business with him. It ought to be great stuff—squirting soda. A wonderful sedative for my nerves after my long stay in jail," he said.

The dapper little college graduate and minister's son, as he smilingly outlined his plans for the future, was more easily pictured as a soda dispenser than as the assassin who lay in ambush through midnight hours at isolated Beverly Glen, and shot wealthy John Belton Kennedy to death when the latter appeared in company with Madalynne Obenchain.

ON FINDING A WITHERED FLOWER IN AN OLD BOOK

I found between the pages of a book
A pressed and withered, unremembered flower,
Plucked, who shall say in what beloved nook
Or place in some long since forgotten hour?
An unremembered flower, that had its sweet
And passing dream, and then was laid away—
And if it died or if 'twas made complete,
Now who shall say?

Some sweet and tenderest significance
Breathed with its fragrance ere it was this dust,
Laid there, perchance, with some shy, blushing glance
Upon it; as the symbol of sweet trust
Pledged with a lover's kiss; and when the day
Was gone and passion was no longer hot,
Did the trust like this flower, crumble away
To be forgot?

Like to a dream or some forgotten trust
With high ambition, gone from mind until
We come upon its unremembered dust
One after day and wish once more the thrill
Of its long faded beauty and delight
Might send the pulses leaping for the hour—
So, as I turned the pages, was the sight
Of this withered flower.

Some dream was wrought about it; some shy look,
Some memory glad and joyously complete;
And this remembrance of it in a book
The substance of the dream made captive, sweet
With a plucked blossom, gathered in that hour
When life had nothing more of joy to give—
Did the dream fade and wither like the flower
Or did it live?

I found between the pages of a book
A pressed and withered, unremembered flower,
Plucked, who shall say in what beloved nook
Or place in some long since forgotten hour
By some one never to be known—an hour
To keep forever sweet or pledge some trust;
And did the dream abide, or like the flower
Wither and be dust?

UNITED STATES IS NOT TALKING DEBT

Deny Report of Cancelling Half of Debt Foreign Powers Owe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Emphatic denial that the United States is considering cancellation of any part of the European war debt was made today, following the dispatches from Paris and London that 50 per cent of the money owed the United States might be marked off. An American official told the United Press that repeated efforts have been made by some foreign delegates to raise the debt questions unofficially. So far as the United States is concerned, this official said, the conference will be limited to matters for which it was called.

No official note is likely to be taken of the persistent efforts to raise the debt question unless they become embarrassing to this government.
